Howard Hodgkin As Time Goes By

Exhibition 27 August - 23 October 2010

Flowering Palm 1990, Hand-coloured etching with carborundum, Paper and image 149.4 x 120.5 cm

Howard Hodgkin – As Time Goes By

Howard Hodgkin ist Turner-Preisgewinner und einer der bedeutendsten zeitgenössischen Maler Grossbritanniens. Seit Jahren bilden nebst der Malerei die druckgrafischen Arbeiten einen wesentlichen Teil seines Oeuvres. Oftmals unterzieht Howard Hodgkin diese Werke – zusätzlich zu einigen komplexen und langwierigen Druckprozessen – einer individuellen malerischen Bearbeitung. Dadurch wird jede Arbeit einzigartig.

Wir freuen uns ausserordentlich, Ihnen in dieser Ausstellung mit „As Time Goes By“ nicht nur das aktuellste Werk des Künstlers, sondern – mit über sechs Metern Länge – auch seine grösste je entstandene druckgrafische Arbeit zu zeigen. Ein Kunstwerk, das durch seine Ausmasse Grenzen überschreitet und Perspektiven erweitert. Möglich wurde die Ausstellung nur, indem uns Howard Hodgkin eine seiner Epreuves d'Artiste zur Verfügung gestellt hat.

Mein herzlichster Dank geht an Howard Hodgkin und Antony Peattie für ihre langjährige Freundschaft und an Alan Cristea für die ausgezeichnete Zusammenarbeit. Ebenfalls herzlich danken möchte ich Eduardo Leemann, Katharina von Allmen und Irene Franco von der Falcon Private Bank, die es uns ermöglichen, die Ausstellung über die Galerieräumlichkeiten hinaus zu erweitern und das Werk Howard Hodgkins einem breiteren Publikum zugänglich zu machen.

„As Time Goes By“ ist eine in jeder Beziehung aussergewöhnliche Ausstellung, mit der wir Ihre Begeisterung für einen herausragenden Künstler wecken möchten.

For years now printmaking has been an important part of Hodgkin's oeuvre. He often submits his prints not only to complex and lengthy printing processes but also adds individual brush strokes making each sheet unique.

We take exceptional pleasure in presenting As Time Goes By in this exhibition. Not only is this Hodgkin's latest work; at a width of over six metres it is also his largest print ever. It is a work of art whose dimensions transcend boundaries and shift perspectives. This exhibition has only become possible because the artist put one of his épreuves d'artiste at our disposal.

I would like to express my most heartfelt gratitude to Howard Hodgkin and Antony Peattie for their long-standing friendship and to Alan Cristea for the excellent cooperation. Also, I am grateful to Eduardo Leemann, Katharina von Allmen and Irene Franco at the Falcon Private Bank, who have made it possible for us to expand the show beyond the confines of our gallery and present Howard Hodgkin's work to a wider audience.

In every respect As Time Goes By is an exceptional exhibition and we hope it will awaken your enthusiasm for an exceptional artist.

Howard Hodgkin – As Time Goes By

Howard Hodgkin zählt zu den renommiertesten zeitgenössischen Künstlern Grossbritanniens. Seine Werke visualisieren vibrierende Farbklänge, die an der Grenze zwischen Figuration und Abstraktion Emotionen und Erinnerungen auslösen. In seinem jüngsten, überdimensionalen Werk „As Time Goes By“ setzt Hodgkin seine üppigen, fluiden Malgesten mit grösster Spontaneität und Heftigkeit ein und erzeugt so ein betörendes Meisterwerk. Mit einer Breite von rund sechs Metern ist dieses Werk die grösste Druckgrafik, die er bis anhin geschaffen hat. Die Galerie Andres Thalmann präsentiert dieses raumgreifende Schlüsselwerk aus Hodgkins aktueller Schaffensperiode im Kontext seines druckgrafischen Oeuvres.

In einer vielzitierten Aussage umschreibt Howard Hodgkin seine künstlerische Position: “I am a representational painter but not a painter of appearances. I paint representational pictures of emotional situations.” In seinen sinnlichen Farbkompositionen evoziert Hodgkin die Erinnerung an Begegnungen und Orte und die damit verbundenen Stimmungen. Seine Erinnerungen werden durch den Malakt lebendig. Hodgkin schafft oft widersprüchliche Kompositionen. Eindrücke und Gefühle rekonstruiert er und verunklärt sie gleichzeitig, indem er intensive Farbkontraste mit deutlichen Zeichen durchsetzt und sukzessive übereinander schichtet. Mit einem gemalten Rahmen wird die suggestive Wirkung der pulsierenden Farbräume noch akzentuiert.

In der Bildstruktur kommen die Konfigurationen nur verhüllt zum Vorschein. Oft kreiert Hodgkin mit aneinander gereihten Farbtupfern oder breiten Pinselstrichen eine zusätzliche Ebene, die sich dem Bild als Textur einschreibt. Im Werk „As Time Goes By“ geraten die Farbtupfer, die Hodgkin gerne als autonome Zeichen definiert, zum eigentlichen Bildgegenstand. In ihrer spontanen Setzung bilden sie ein loses Raster. Da die Tupfer in unterschiedlichen Farben und zuweilen übereinander aufgetragen sind, entstehen mehrere Raster, die sich visuell überlagern und der Komposition eine starke Tiefenwirkung verleihen.

Seit den späten siebziger Jahren erzeugt Hodgkin druckgrafische Blätter. Zahlreiche Werkserien sprechen von seinem Bestreben, druckspezifische Methoden fortwährend auszureißen und mit seinen malerischen Errungenschaften zu verbinden. Der Künstler bereichert die Druckgrafik um eine wesentliche Innovation, indem er die Handkolorierung als integralen Bestandteil in den Druckprozess einführt. Während Grafiken üblicherweise am Schluss von Hand koloriert werden, setzt Hodgkin sie zunehmend in den unterschiedlichen Druckphasen ein. Die von Hand aufgetragenen Malgesten verleihen den Blättern eine üppigere Textur und verstärken durch ihren dezenten Glanz das Oszillieren der Bildebenen.

Im Rahmen seiner Druckgrafik entwickelte Hodgkin einen eigenständigen Zyklus. Inspiriert von Postern gestaltete er unter anderem seine grossformatigen Palmen-Bilder. In einer plakativen Formensprache hat er Sinnbilder entwickelt, die eine exotische Atmosphäre versprühen. Über Howard Hodgkins druckgrafische Oeuvre ist 2003 im Thames & Hudson Verlag unter der Federführung von Liesbeth Heenk und Nan Rosenthal ein umfangreicher Catalogue Raisonné erschienen.

1932 in London geboren, besuchte Howard Hodgkin die Camberwell School of Art und die Bath Academy of Art in Corsham. Im Jahre 1984 vertrat der Künstler Grossbritannien an der Biennale von Venedig. Ein Jahr später war er Turner-Preisträger. Seit über vierzig Jahren figurieren seine Werke in internationalen Ausstellungen sowie in wichtigen öffentlichen und privaten Sammlungen auf der ganzen Welt. Zu seinen bedeutenden Ausstellungen gehört die Schau Paintings 1975-1995, die am Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York eröffnet wurde und in Fort Worth, Düsseldorf und London Halt machte, gefolgt von einer grösseren Retrospektive am Irish Museum of Modern Art in Dublin (2006), die von Tate Britain und vom Museo Nacional Centro de Arte Reina Sofia in Madrid übernommen wurde. Das Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York zeigt bis November 2010 Hodgkins Serien “Into the Woods” und “Venice”, die sich in der Sammlung des Museums befinden.

Howard Hodgkin – As Time Goes By

Howard Hodgkin is one of Britain's leading contemporary artists. His vibrantly colourful works oscillate between figuration and abstraction; they visualise and evoke feelings and memories. Hodgkin's latest giant work, As Time Goes By, combines his exuberant, fluid painterly gesture with great spontaneity and verve, and is a beguiling masterpiece. Some six metres wide, this is his biggest print so far. Galerie Andres Thalmann proudly presents this key work alongside other pieces from Hodgkin's recent print series.

In a much-quoted statement Hodgkin described his position as an artist: "I am a representational painter but not a painter of appearances. I paint representational pictures of emotional situations." His sensual colour compositions evoke memories of places and encounters and the sentiments associated with them. The act of painting revives his memories. In his compositions Hodgkin often creates dramatic contrasts, both reconstructing and obscuring his impressions and feelings by superimposing layers and juxtaposing intense colour contrasts and distinct marks. Painted frames enhance the suggestive effect of his pulsating colours.

Motifs tend to be embedded in Hodgkin's pictorial structures. He often creates additional levels consisting of lines of wide brush strokes or splashes of colour, which inscribe themselves as texture. He has defined the splashes as autonomous signs, which in As Time Goes By are the actual subject. Spontaneously placed, in various colours and with some overlapping, the splashes create several visually superimposed grids that give great depth to the composition.

In the late 1970s Hodgkin embarked on printmaking. Many series document his endeavour to push the boundaries of this genre and to combine printing and painting techniques. His innovative contribution to printmaking has been to treat hand colouration as an integral element of the printing process where it usually occurs at the end. Hodgkin, however, has increasingly integrated colouration at various stages of the process. His hand-painted prints acquire a more voluptuous texture, with the paint's gleam producing an oscillation between visual levels.

Hodgkin has created an autonomous print cycle. Inspired by posters he designed, among others, his large-scale palm images. He has developed emblems in a bold formal idiom that exude an exotic atmosphere. A comprehensive catalogue raisonné on Howard Hodgkin's printed oeuvre, edited by Liesbeth Heenk and Nan Rosenthal, was published by Thames & Hudson in 2003.

Howard Hodgkin was born in London in 1932 and attended Camberwell School of Art and the Bath Academy of Art, Corsham. In 1984, he represented Britain at the Venice Biennale and in the following year won the Turner Prize. He has exhibited internationally for over four decades and his work is included in major public and private collections all over the world. Major museum surveys include Paintings 1975-1995 which opened at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York and toured to Fort Worth, Düsseldorf, and London; a major retrospective at the Irish Museum of Modern Art, Dublin (2006) travelling to Tate Britain and Museo Nacional Centro de Arte Reina Sofia, Madrid. Until November 2010 the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, shows Hodgkin's series Into the Woods and Venice from its collection.

As Time Goes By, 1931 Song from the film Casablanca, 1942

This day and age we're living in
Gives cause for apprehension
With speed and new invention
And things like fourth dimension.

Yet we get a trifle weary
With Mr. Einstein's theory.
So we must get down to earth at times
Relax relieve the tension

And no matter what the progress
Or what may yet be proved
The simple facts of life are such
They cannot be removed.

You must remember this
A kiss is just a kiss, a sigh is just a sigh.
The fundamental things apply As time goes by.
And when two lovers woo

They still say, „I love you.“
On that you can rely
No matter what the future brings
As time goes by.

Moonlight and love songs
Never out of date.

Hearts full of passion
Jealousy and hate.
Woman needs man
And man must have his mate
That no one can deny.

It's still the same old story
A fight for love and glory
A case of do or die.
The world will always welcome lovers
As time goes by.

Oh yes, the world will always welcome lovers
As time goes by.

As Time Goes By, 2009

The song As Time Goes By (1931), from the film Casablanca (1942), has been chosen by Howard Hodgkin as the joint title for his two most recent monumental hand-painted, sugar-lift aquatint and carborundum etchings of which the Blue Version is currently displayed at the Galerie Andres Thalmann. The two works, which are essentially the same composition but which are painted and printed in different colours, are the result of a close collaboration between the artist and Jack Shirreff, a collaboration that has endured for over 25 years and which has led to a large part of the artist's editioned work. The understanding between Hodgkin and Shirreff that has grown over the years has gradually spread to the rest of the team at 107 Workshop in Wiltshire, led by master printer, Andrew Smith.

As Time Goes By, in its two manifestations, constitutes the culmination of this collaboration. They are the largest intaglio prints ever undertaken by either the artist or the printer and, at 8ft by 20ft, may indeed be the largest etchings undertaken anywhere by anyone.

Each composition is executed on five separate sheets of hand-torn 350gsm Moulin de Gué paper. All five sheets are laid out side by side on the floor of the studio and the borders are then hand-painted with specially fabricated brushes ranging in size from 6 inches to 14 inches. The border of the blue version is painted in Anthraquinone, Outremer, and Brilliant Blue acrylic and the border of the red version with Cadmium Red Light, Pyrrole Red and Cadmium Red Medium acrylic. Each image requires about 9 litres of medium and 2 litres of pigment and takes about two days to dry.

Once dry, each panel is printed from one plate made up of three sheets of copper. These plates are placed vertically and the sugar-lift solution generously applied to make a telling mark and to create the line of the drips. The plates are then processed and etched to varying depths before being inked up in the following colours from left to right
